CLOVER SEED.—We believe, says the Rural New Yorker, that a crop of clover seed taken from the land exhausts the soil more than a crop which is cut for hay. Any seed crop, it is well known, is more exhaustive than a mere fodder crop. One strong reason for cutting timothy for hay early, is to remove it from the soil before it has abstracted those elements which form the seed. It impoverishes the soil much less than if cut later. The first growth of clover is not generally disposed to seed much; hence it is not so exhaustive as other grasses if cut late. But the second crop, which bears the seed, is injurious to the land—at least the taking it away is. Unless remuneration is made to the soil it will pay better to let the second growth of rot on the land, or feed it off.

FOOD FOR SHEEP.—A correspondent of the Northwest Farmer thinks sheep should have a greater variety of food than any other domestic animal, and says that Linnaeus found sheep refused only 141 species of plants out of 517 offered them. He thinks the first feed in morning should be of good soft hay.

There is only two things worth looking at in a horse—action and soundness.

SALVE made of linseed oil one pint; rosin three ounces; beeswax three ounces, melted and well mixed, is as good as any ever sold at 25 cents a box.

The more honey bees have on hand in March and April, the faster they will rear young bees, and the more workers will be ready to gather the harvest from fruit blossoms.

That great English experimenter, Mr. Lawes, states that 500 pounds of barley meal, where it is made a sole feed for swine, will increase the weight of a pig from 100 to 200 pounds.

Bees naturally cluster below their stores, and the heat ascending keeps the honey from freezing.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT

TO THE CONSTITUTION.

The State of Ohio, Office of the Secretary of State, }
I, WILLIAM HENRY SMITH, Secretary of State of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the following is a true copy of the joint resolution passed by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, on the 6th day of April, A. D. 1867, taken from the original rolls on file in this office.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed the great Seal of the State of Ohio, at Columbus, the 6th day of April, A. D. 1867.

WILLIAM HENRY SMITH,
Secretary of State.

A RESOLUTION

Relative to an Amendment of the Constitution, providing for the extension of the elective franchise.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, (three-fifths of the members elected to each House agreeing thereto), That it be and it is hereby proposed to the electors of this State to vote at the next annual October election, upon the approval or rejection of the following amendment as a substitute for the first section of the fifth Article of the Constitution of this State, to-wit: Every male citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of the State one year next preceding the election, and of the county, township or ward in which he resides, such time as may be provided by law, except such persons as have borne arms in support of any insurrection or rebellion against the government of the United States, or have fled from their places of residence to avoid being drafted into the military service thereof, or have deserted the military or naval service of said government in time of war, and have not subsequently been honorably discharged from the same, shall have the qualifications of an elector and be entitled to vote at all elections.

ED. A. PARBOTT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
ANDREW G. MCBURNEY,
President of the Senate.

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

FOR 1867.

This veteran and sterling journal of the whole world's latest literature opens its 25th volume in the full tide of that prosperity and uninterrupted popularity which has sustained it at the head of the American weekly press for nearly a third of a century. Always famous for

A COMPLETE LIBRARY OF FIRESIDE ROMANCE.

It will enter upon the New Year not only as a repository of fresh and original masterpieces from the leading novelists of this country, England, and France, but also as a mirror of the classic fictions of the olden time, which will be carefully revised, and adapted to the most fashionable requirements of modern taste and delicacy. Each issue will contain, besides the brilliant serial novelties, an unequal array of Home and Society Stories, Sketches, and Poems, by our best authors and authoresses, while a

have been secured to furnish ready, readable, and fearless criticisms of the most important

NEW PLAYS.

NOTABLE BOOKS, POPULAR ARTISTS, and all persons, things, and events in which the whole country may be supposed to take special interest.

In addition, however, to securing Volume XXIX the closest productions of the best-known contemporary authors, the proprietors of The New York Mercury design making special efforts during the New Year to

from the numerous ranks of those possessors of marked intellectual abilities who have hitherto been deterred from seeking print through fear of editorial rebuff or neglect.

EVERY SUBSCRIBER TO THE NEW YORK MERCURY IN 1867 WILL BE INVITED TO WRITE FOR ITS COLUMNS.

and the proprietors promise to be generous as well as just in dealing with manuscripts are worthy of publication.

"Full many a gem of purest ray serene,
The dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear;
And full many a flower that never was before
Discovered, and brought to the appreciation and reward which others have not yet been theirs.

The paper will also sparkle with artistic and social pungencies, side-splitting gossip, piquant feminine correspondence, curious and interesting news, all the literary talk of the country, valuable fashion-articles, fairy and other tales for the little folks, condensed versions of the most remarkable new books, and FLEET ILLUSTRATIONS.

A number of choice original serials, each of them written by the most successful authors of the day, by such contributors as Miss M. E. Braddon, Marie Beau, William Gilmore Simms, Cousin May Caroline, Alexandre Dumas, F. Paulsen, Balzac, and others of that rank, will be given in rapid succession.

To mail subscribers, our terms are: Cash in advance: Single copies, $2.50 a year; three copies, $7.50; six copies, $12.50; nine copies, $17.50. The party who sends us $20 for a club of nine copies will receive an additional copy free. Six months' subscription received in advance.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent
Duplex Elliptic
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

THE WONDERFUL FLEXIBILITY AND great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly at crowded Assemblies, Opera Houses, Balls, Road Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small space, and can be unfolded when desired, thus revealing the fullness of the skirt, and preventing them from wearing out when dragging down steps, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashionable World.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish Shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the Genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMITATION, be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Skirt," upon the waistband—some others are genuine. Also notice that every Hoop will admit of a pin being passed through the center, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where FIRST CLASS skirts are sold, throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sold Owners of the Patent, WEST, BRADLEY & CAREY, 87 Chambers and 70 & 81 Rode Sts., N. Y. February 14, 1867—2a

Extraordinary Inducements to Our Agents

Premiums Amounting to $1,445 00!

To be Distributed in April, 1867!

For List of Premiums and Particulars of Distribution, see the Weekly Enquirer and Subscription Circulars.

WE, this year, offer prizes to the above amount as an incentive to those of our patrons who will exert themselves to form clubs. If our paper could be taken in the household of all our Democratic friends, South and West, its influence would be potent in changing the political aspect of affairs. The great point for which all friends of the Union should labor for is the Dissemination of Democratic truth. It had had an equal hearing with the errors of its opponents, we should never have had the terrible crisis of the last five years. Taught by past experience, we trust the Democratic press is in future to have a larger sphere of influence and circulation.

What evils have fallen upon the land, owing to the erroneous political education of the masses? If we would restore the old order of things once more, effect National Unity and the old-fashioned Peace and Freedom, we must place the Democratic again in power. As auxiliary to this end, and as the most effective agent in the work, we repeat, is the circulation of the Democratic press.

The Enquirer has some claims upon the consideration of the Democracy that are universally acknowledged. Through prescription and persecution unexampled, with military edicts cutting off our circulation in whole States and districts, threatened with total suppression, personal imprisonment and mob violence we did not change our course, we stood by the Democratic flag and gave expression to its tenets. Twice burned to the ground within thirteen months, and amid the greatest pecuniary and personal sacrifices, we have never lost an issue of our paper, or broken a promise to any of our subscribers. In the future, as in the past, under the banner of Democracy, we will stand by the truth in the darkest hours of their political and personal interests, and will not exert ourselves to increase our circulation.

As a business and family journal, the Enquirer has no superior. Each number contains a large amount of general news, latest, and most reliable intelligence, and interesting matter. Financial and Commercial News is made a special feature of the Enquirer. An unusually large space being devoted to full and complete reports of the ruling prices of this and other markets.

The Weekly Enquirer will be mailed to subscribers at the following reduced rates:
Single copy, one year, $ 2 00
Six months, 1 25
Ten copies, one year, 20 00

With an additional copy to the getter up of the club. Money to be sent at our bank by express, prepaid, or in registered letters by mail. For sums over ten dollars by mail, drafts or post office money orders should be procured. Address, FARAN & McLEAN, Cincinnati, Ohio.

PROSPECTUS

THE CRISIS,
For 1867.

The Seventh Volume and the Seventh Year of the publication of The Crisis is about to begin, and, in accordance with custom, we issue our Annual Prospectus. We need not recapitulate its history during the stormy years of its existence, nor remind those who have read it, of its services in behalf of the great principles of the Democracy, and what its conductors conceived, and what time has shown, to be the best interests of the country. Its merits have been acknowledged from the time it was started by that veteran and distinguished journalist, Gov. MEDARD, and its present conductors simply claim for it the credit of an earnest and undeviating adherence to the plan and principles of its founder. In all the political vicissitudes of the past six years—the failure of some, the apostasy of others, and the unguarded weakness of many, exponents of Democracy, The Crisis has never deviated from the straight path of principle, nor been allured by temporary expedients, intimidated by threats, nor disheartened by defeat and disaster.

On the score of principle we claim for it the merit of fidelity, honesty, and consistency. As a newspaper we claim for it the merit of being an exponent of Western interests and ideas, a reliable journal of the times, a valuable companion of the farmer, the mechanic, the business man, and the family circle. It is our aim to fill the large sheet with matter of real interest and permanent value—to discuss questions of principle that are of real significance, to inform, improve, and instruct, as well as amuse—and to this end we discard the idle twaddle which goes so far to fill up the daily papers, the obscene advertisements and the sensational folly of the day. We could publish hundreds of letters from the best men of the country approving of the course of The Crisis in this respect, and to this course we propose to rigidly adhere. The reliable market reports and the great amount of statistical, agricultural, financial, and political information we publish, is of importance and value to business men, farmers, mechanics, and politicians; while the carefully selected pages of literary miscellany which each number contains, commands the home circle of all.

The political views of The Crisis scarcely require definition. It is in favor of Democratic principles in all their breadth and purity, as expounded by Thomas Jefferson, and the other really great men and founders of the Government, and upon which the Government was successfully conducted for seventy years. It is opposed to the Abolition despotism which now controls the Federal Government, in all its shapes and under whatever device it may appear. It is opposed to the entire Abolition theory of politics, and all the monstrosities, humbugs, and delusions which grew out of it. It is opposed to the thieving, rascality, the tyrannical assumptions, the stupid and barbarous policies and the lawless usurpations of Congress, and to all the machinery that the Jacobins have devised and put in operation to overthrow Republican Government, inaugurate anarchy and absolutism, enslave the people, and oppress them with odious taxes, and tyrannical, insane, and corrupt legislation. And in advocating the correct principles and opposing the evils we have named, we shall continue to do it without fear or favor.

One who successfully conduct such a paper as The Crisis, it must have a large list of subscribers; and to secure that we rely upon our friends and those who have taken the paper. We cannot compete with the cheap, shoddy publications of the East by offering bogus premiums or employing traveling agents; but we earnestly solicit the aid of our readers in extending our circulation by their personal efforts. It will require but little exertion from each, but the aggregate will enable us to furnish them with a paper fully equal in size, superior in print to any Eastern publication, and of a great deal more interest and importance to Western Democrats. Friends, shall we call upon you in vain, for the small favor, ask, and in a cause of such magnitude and value? Now is the time to send in subscriptions for the new volume, which, at the end of the year, will be worth three times the amount of the subscription price.

Our terms are $3.00 per year, $1.50 for six months, $1.00 for four months. One extra copy will be sent to any one getting up a club of six yearly subscribers; and to any one sending a club of ten for six or four months an extra copy for the club time.

For a club of ten yearly subscribers a copy of either of the five bound volumes—(No. 62, 63, 64 or 65).

For a club of thirty yearly subscribers, a complete set of the volumes of The Crisis for six years.

Address, WILLIAM TREVITT, Publisher and Proprietors, Columbus, 1867.
